Graves in Three Cemeteries Are Decorated Today by Veterans

Overcast skies and intermittent rain only emphasized the devotion of veterans of three wars and citizens of the city to the nation and to the memory of the heroic dead, Sunday afternoon.

A long procession of gray-haired Civil war veterans, who occupied honor seats in automobiles; veterans of the Spanish-American war in the blue uniforms and nearly 300 soldiers and sailors of the war yesterday marched through the streets in solemn procession to the Auditorium, with hundreds of citizens of various ages, members of the Woman's Relief Corps, War Mothers, Ladies Auxiliary, and Nurses in the line of march. Included in the line of World War veterans were one or two who served in the Canadian forces in the common flight. Overseas stripes were numerous among the veterans, and one or two walked with halting steps, a reminder of the price paid by some who fought in Flanders fields, and mares in their blue uniforms took their places with the soldiers clad in olive drab uniforms.

The pageant at the Auditorium was witnessed by a crowd which filled all seats in the building. The simplicity of the pageant added to the warmth of the tribute paid to fallen heroes, and with it was a note which brought a mental renewal of the vows of fealty to the flag and nation and a promise of a united and firm nation in the future.

Painting in Background
The background of the pageant setting was a painting of a section of the American cemetery at Belleau Woods, France, where thousands of American soldiers were buried. The scene was painted by H. H. Pimoor, a veteran of the Canadian forces, and was a faithful reproduction of a part of the cemetery. The painting was made from a postal card photograph of part of the cemetery and Mr. Pimoor was aided by a Prisma motion picture, shown at the Eltinge, from which he gained the needed knowledge of the coloring. The film was run several times by the Eltinge management to aid him.

The central figures in the pageant were Mrs. Edward Bannion, voicing the spirit of the nation, representatives of the North, East, South and West, who were Misses Julia Weber, Esther Taylor, Anne Atkinson and Mary Parsons; William C. Paulson, voicing the spirit of the dead and Mrs. M. W. Ross as Liberty in the tablet which closed the pageant. Soldiers of three wars were the stage stars. Steve Welch, W. B. Hibbs, Wesley Baker and Mr. Kistner, Civil War veterans; L. M. Parsons, E. G. Wanner, J. L. Kelly and Rudy Patzman, Spanish-American war veterans, and Herman Brocopp, Elmer Lilleskow, A. Bernstein, Fred Butler Alexander, Drysdale, P. G. Harrington, Arthur Brown, Ray Burman, Legionnaires. John Slavick, buzzer.

Graves Decorated
An orchestra and chorus of the Thursday Musical club, under the direction of Mrs. A. G. Jacobson, furnished music in keeping with the spirit of the pageant. The pageant itself was written and directed by G. H. Russ, Jr.

This morning representatives of the patriotic societies visited Fairview, St. Mary's and Ft. Lincoln cemeteries and the Missouri river, decorating graves and paying a soldier's tribute to heroic dead. The Legion firing squad, the members of which were on the stage at the pageant, assisted in the services at the graves. The Legion post had recently received new rifles for the firing squad.

More than 100 graves were decorated by the committees. Among these was a grave in the American Legion plot in Fairview cemetery, where a bronze Legion marker recently was placed.

PROWLER GETS
TERM IN PRISON

Arthur Schroer Goes Up For
3 1/2 Years

Arthur Schroer, "the prowler," is now in the state penitentiary, to serve a three and a half year sentence for breaking into Bismarck homes. The home mentioned in the information to which he pleaded guilty was the "Prowler's" club.

Schroer was brought before Judge Nussle Saturday night to receive his sentence, after inquiries had been made concerning his record in the St. Cloud, Minn., reformatory and Red Wing, Minn., school for boys. Schroer had been in these two institutions since he was a boy. He now is about 30 years old.

The young man informed the judge that he did not want an indeterminate sentence, but wanted a fixed term. The term was fixed at three and a half years.

"GRAND OLD LADY" TELLS HISTORY OF
MEMORIAL DAY

MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN

Widow of General John A. Logan Recalls Her Part in Founding National Holiday

By Newspaper Enterprise.

Washington, May 30.—The mausoleum where lies the body of Gen. John A. Logan, hero of the Civil war, will not be visited today by his widow. It has been her custom to decorate his grave each Memorial day.

Instead, she is to address G. A. R. veterans at Arlington National cemetery. She will tell how Memorial day became a permanent holiday in America.

Mrs. Logan, called "The Grand Old Lady of Washington," is 82. She married Logan, a country attorney in Illinois, when she was 17.

His dash and bravery as a Union general earned for him the sobriquet of "the Black Eagle" and the hero worship of school boys of today. "General Logan issued the proclamation setting aside Decoration day as a day of tribute after I returned from a trip through the historic battlegrounds of Virginia," says Mrs. Logan.

"That was in 1868. He was commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. I told him how the grave of each Confederate soldier at Petersburg was decorated with a wreath and a Confederate flag.

"Now, that's a capital idea," he exclaimed. "We have been neglecting our dead, while they have honored theirs.

"We have to see in it that the grave of every Union soldier is properly cared for and decorated. The Greeks and the Romans always decorated the graves of their heroes."

"I'm commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. and I'm going to issue an order setting aside a special day for that purpose and calling upon all comrades to observe it."

The eyes of the Grand Old Lady beamed as she recalled her husband's words. "That order was issued from headquarters of the G. A. R. May 5, 1868," she said. "It was signed by General Logan as commander-in-chief and by N. P. Chipman as adjutant general."

"Chipman, as adjutant general, probably did the physical work of getting out the order. But the idea was General Logan's and the order was General Logan's. That I know."

In some parts of the G. A. R. a report has been circulated to the effect that Chipman, not Logan, was the author of the order that makes May 30 a great national holiday.

"That's why the Grand Old Lady will put on the little bonnet that makes her a distinctive figure on Washington streets and go to Arlington to tell her story today."

MAY CONDEMN
OLD BUILDINGS

An inspection trip for the purpose of ascertaining if there are old buildings which should be ordered torn down will be started this week by O. T. Haukeneson, deputy state fire marshal. Mr. Haukeneson expects to go to Grand Forks first, he having received complaints concerning a number of old frame buildings there. Under the state law the fire marshal has authority to order buildings depreciated more than fifty per cent torn down. Mr. Haukeneson expects to visit a number of cities in the eastern and northern part of the state, including Devils Lake.

PRESIDENT URGES NATION LOYAL
FIRST OF ALL TO OWN PEOPLE

Washington, May 30.—A nation loyal first of all to itself, but never failing to measure up to the demands of an advancing civilization was pictured by President Harding as an American ideal today in a Memorial Day address at Arlington National cemetery.

American heroes of every war, the President said, had accomplished more than the immediate ends for which they fought because they had helped erect and preserve a shrine for the liberty-loving of every race. He declared the whole mission of America would become an unrealized dream if this heritage were ever sacrificed.

"Our country," said Mr. Harding, "has never failed to measure up to the demands presented to it in behalf of humanity and it never will. When it comes to meet these drafts it will be, if that time ever comes, the wretched and degenerating memorial of another civilization that has crumbled, of another ideal which has failed, of another ambition for man's happiness which has somehow gone awry."

In equally emphatic language the President asserted his conviction that this duty to civilization could be accomplished only if the nation took care of its own integrity.

"I counsel no selfishness," he said. "No little Americanism; no mere parochialism, when I urge that our first duty is to our own and that in the measure of its part performance we will find the true gauge of our capacity to be helpful to others."

CONVICTED OF ARSON; COUPLE
SEEK FREEDOM

The state pardon board, which meets June 2, will hear petitions from a large number of persons seeking freedom from the penitentiary.

Among those are Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Meuchel, who were convicted of arson in the burning of the shoe store of which Mr. Meuchel was manager in Mott. Meuchel got one to three years and his wife one year in prison.

Effort to Get Freedom From High Court Fails For One

An attack on the constitutionality of the law of 1919 reducing the number of judicial districts in the state from twelve to six and providing for the appointment of new judges failed to win liberty for Frank Koonce, convicted in the district court of Ramsey county before Judge Buttz on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor.

The supreme court, before whom the case was brought, did not pass on the merits of the constitutional objection, but held the defendant was not in a position to raise the objection.

"The contention is," said Judge Birdzell, who delivered the opinion, "that the legislature possessed no power under the constitution to decrease the number of judicial districts by increasing the boundaries of each so as to embrace more counties and to increase the number of judges in each district. We express no opinion whatever on the merits of this constitutional objection to the judicial redistricting act. We are satisfied that the defendant is not in a position to raise the question."

The court held that Koonce was not in a position to raise the question because in this case the judge who presided was the judge who in the absence of such legislation as the redistricting, would have been the judge in the county.

The defendant also raised the question of newly discovered evidence. The defendant was arrested July 11, 1920, and convicted on Nov. 13, 1920.

TO SWEEP SILENCE.

Fargo, N. D., May 30.—The order issued by the state railroad and warehouse commission Sept. 2, 1920, authorizing the Union Light, Heat & Power company of Fargo and the Red River Power company of Grand Forks to collect an emergency coal surcharge of 25 per cent on electricity and gas, and 35 per cent on steam heat, was held invalid by Judge McKenna at the conclusion of the arguments at the trial held in the Cass county district court.

Railroads to Stimulate Travel
To Playgrounds

Washington, May 30.—An average reduction of one-third in round trip summer excursion fares to the various national parks of the country will be made effective June 1 by the railroads. It was announced last night by the Interior department.

The reduction, the department said, was a contribution by the railroads to efforts of the government to make the nation's playgrounds accessible to as many persons as possible.

HEBRON'S PLAN FOR ABOLISHING
PUBLIC HIGH SCHOOL MAY CAUSE
COURT BATTLE IF CARRIED OUT

Citizens of the town of Hebron, Morton county who proposed to abolish the public school and form a private high school corporation is a war out of their financial difficulties. They held informal conferences with state officials. It is understood.

Sentiment is not unanimous on the proposed plan and it is expected that should the majority of citizens seek to put in effect the "luxury high school" plan it would meet with opposition in the courts.

The proposal was to form a private corporation and sell shares of stock to patrons who would send their children to the high school maintained by the corporation. The public high school property would be turned over to the corporation and have only a school house as show the directors of 1921, brought.

The corporation. The tuition fee in the private high school thus created would be the actual cost per pupil.

The citizens who sought out state officials were not for the plan, but were trying to find a way out of the financial trouble. According to one official the district maintaining the high school consisting of a township and a half embracing the town of Hebron has an assessed valuation of well over a million dollars, but has not increased the school tax levy to provide sufficient revenue. A new law limits the increase and the district faces a lack of sufficient funds to meet its obligations.

This situation gave birth to the plan to treat a high school community as a luxury and have only a private high school.

North Dakota Congressman

Washington, May 30.—Chairman Tower of the house Republican conference, issued a call for a caucus next Wednesday night at which decision as to party action is expected on the resolution of Rep. Longworth, Ohio, to make rates of the general tariff bill effective from the date of introduction for the bill.

Rep. Young, North Dakota, the only Republican member of the ways and means committee who opposed the resolution in committee, said today he would carry his fight into the caucus and it was understood Chairman Tower would advocate killing the plan because of opposition it had developed. Supporters of the resolution had difficulty in obtaining the call for a caucus.

Paris, May 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—A note from Great Britain received in reply to Premier Briand's recent communication with regard to the meeting of the allied supreme council insists upon the desirability of a meeting of that body this week.

Great Britain accepts the principal laid down by France of an examination of the Silesian question by a special mission of experts, but holds that the council should meet first and not delay its session until after the experts have reported as France suggested.

PLANE'S WRECK
DURING STORM

Five Army Officers and Two Civilians Meet Death in Ambulance Plane

DECLARED WORST WRECK

Army Officers, Unable to Explain It, After Seeing Wreckage

Washington, May 30.—Army officials were preparing today for an official investigation of the crash during a storm Saturday evening near Indian Head, Maryland, of the ambulance air plane in which seven men—five army officers and two civilians—met death. The fact that every occupant of the machine was killed, making it necessary therefore, for a board of inquiry to depend largely on the observations of distant eye-witnesses in forming its conclusion made it doubtful that the exact cause of the disaster could be developed.

The plane, a Curtiss Eagle, which had been diverted from its ambulance equipment, was making a return flight from Langley field, Virginia, to Washington, when it encountered a severe electrical storm accompanied by winds estimated to be blowing at 100 miles velocity.

Couldn't Make Headway
Eye-witnesses say that the plane was unable to make headway in the wind descended apparently in an attempt to land but after dropping to within about 100 feet of the ground approached a clump of trees and swerved upward. The trees were cleared but as the plane started toward an open field nearby it was seen to quiver, turn and dive vertically to the earth.

Those who reached the wreck first found all seven men dead. All the bodies were grouped closely together some badly mutilated by the engine which had been torn from its bed and thrown backward, cutting the men down like a scythe as it plowed through the narrow passenger compartment.

Worst Ever Seen
A watch later found had stopped at 6:25 showing the time of the tragedy. Army officers who viewed the wreck said it was the worst they had ever seen and were at a loss to understand how it could have resulted.

Washington, May 30.—President Harding today signed the emergency bill, which became effective Saturday and which will affect for a six months period most farm products.

It also has a provision designed to prevent dumping of foreign goods in this country.

In the event of passage by congress of the Longworth resolution under which new import duties would be levied immediately upon introduction of the permanent tariff bill, house leaders said it naturally would supersede the emergency measure which carries only a few items compared with thousands in the general bill.

House Republicans plan to meet Wednesday night to decide whether the resolution shall be made a permanent law.

Mr. Moore left Bismarck April 6th on a trip to Des Moines, Ia., via Minneapolis, returning to Bismarck the latter part of the month. Although Mr. Moore encountered roads blocked with snow and deep with mud he made the trip without any trouble or expense outside of gasoline and oil, which goes to show that motorists do not need to wait for fair weather before starting on a trip. Mr. Moore traveled 2,500 miles during the entire trip and averaged twenty (20) miles to the gallon of gasoline.

STATE SCHOOL ADOPTS NEW PLAN OF ACTION

Some Ideas Used in George Junior Republic Adopted by Head of Training Institution

A scene unique in the annals of the State Training School took place Friday night, when the new superintendent, W. F. McClelland put up to the boys his plan of self government and they unanimously accepted it.

Mr. McClelland, formerly a worker in the world famous George Junior Republic, proposes to put into execution the theory and as much of the practice as is immediately practicable of that successful experiment in boy psychology.

The preliminaries which occurred on Friday evening were most interesting. The boy who was appointed temporary chairman presided with alacrity and seriousness. Two boys were nominated for judge, the merits of each nominee being extolled by the fellow who proposed him. The one who was finally elected is a chap who comes of an excellent family and is possessed of a high school education but who became incorrigible, fell in with a band of thieves and was finally committed to the Training School.

He accepted his election with a neat little speech, really a very worthy effort, in which he thanked his comrades for their confidence in him and promised to administer justice to the best of his ability. "I may," said he, "make mistakes, but they will be honest mistakes. I will treat friends and all alike and if you don't want to get pinched, don't get into trouble, that's all."

Other nominations were then heard and a boy elected for clerk of court by whom complaints might be preferred. Court is held three times a week, but not on Sunday or holidays.

On Saturday night were staged the first trials in the new court. In the first case which came before the judge the boy pleaded guilty the charge being disorderly conduct in the wash room. He was sentenced to five hours on line, and concurred with the other boys that the punishment was entirely deserved; the next boy was convicted of leaving his work and going to the barber shop out of his turn, and so on.

This punishment, by the way which is called going on line in institutions of this character is one which Mr. McClelland says will be abolished a little later. It means simply to stand while the others are at recreation for a certain time each day until the sentence is worked out. If the boy repents the desired end.

Mark a Change
This is just the beginning, but it marks a great change. Eventually it is expected that the entire school life may be modeled after the junior republic. The superintendent believes that under the present system it vogue, the boys are just naturally allied against the guards and the guards against the boys, and that when the latter are finally allowed to go out into the world as citizens, they are intuitively against authority and government, and that this constitutes the very thing to be avoided. Any one who has ever worked in an institution recognizes the justice of this position.

Nothing worth while has ever been accomplished without enthusiasm, and this Mr. McClelland has in abundance more than that he believes in the boys and their potentialities for good. He believes in athletics, community singing, religious training (non sectarian) in school and religious instruction in his own religion for each boy and a school room with a thoroughly accredited teacher.

In the fall there will be a school of agriculture, one of carpentry and a print shop where the school paper will be printed and all the work from the type setting to the editing done by the boys themselves.

Finally, he believes in government of the people, for the people and by the people, even these unfortunate little people who have fallen afoul of the law, mostly because they never have been taught to govern themselves and he thinks that once they have been taught that, their problems are largely solved. For that matter, these unfortunate citizens and what touches them touches all of us.

Spends Week End
Frank Sampson of Mott was in Mandan and Bismarck for the week end. Mr. Sampson, who is manager of the Stewart Milling Company of Mott was formerly a Mandan resident, and is with the Russell-Miller Milling Company of here.

Motor From Coal Harbor
Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon of Coal Harbor are motoring down the first of the week to visit with their daughter, Miss Rachel, who is a teacher in the local schools. Miss Sheldon will return with them at the close of school.

Improving Slowly
Julius Curschellas from the Cannonball, who was badly injured recently, when a horse fell on him is reported to be improving very slowly. He is a patient in the Mandan Deaconess hospital.

Leave Hospital
Mrs. Lawrence Peters and baby son left the hospital on Sunday for their home in the city.

Visits in Bismarck
Mrs. John Rovig of Mandan spent Saturday in Bismarck, visiting with friends.

Guest of Friends
Mrs. Joseph P. Hess was in Bismarck Saturday, the guest of friends.

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR MEMORIAL

There will be a general observance of Memorial Day throughout the city. Practically all business places are to be closed for the entire day.

The special program for this morning was in charge of the following patriotic associations: G. A. R., Indian War Veterans, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, War Mothers and Legion Auxiliary. The exercises in the Palace theater at 10 a. m. included an address by Joseph M. Devine, music by the Municipal Band and patriotic selections by a male quartette. Services at the Union cemetery over the graves of dead soldiers were military in character and conducted with the most impressive solemnity.

RODEO STUNT
A glimpse of the old wild west days is promised for Saturday and Monday, when seven or eight cowboys and a lady rider from Montana and Wyoming will take a "rodeo" stunt in the fair grounds. The riders are bringing their own string of horses, but the hand bills they put out state: "Bring your horses if you want them rode." It is probable that they will have a good crowd for this section has not yet lost its taste for the old days. However, they will have to be fine indeed, to better some of the riding and roping shows at former times in the same fair grounds. It is many years since the exploits of Pete Pelisser, Wilby Birchfield, Don and "Dodge" Bill Stevenson, Snyder, Ben Singletary and scores of other old time cattle men, but no one who ever saw them will have forgotten their prowess.

BAND CONCERTS
The Mandan Municipal Band of 30 pieces, gave their first concert this season, Friday night, playing to a splendid crowd. Ralph Law was featured as cornet soloist, and his selections, and all the others by the entire band were a pronounced success.

There will be a regular band concert every Friday night throughout the coming season, with a different soloist performing on each occasion. Mandan citizens, who have contributed liberally to the band project feel that they are being well rewarded for their efforts.

HOLDS BUSINESS MEETING
The executive board of the Mandan Musical club had a business meeting on Friday afternoon at the Commercial club. There will be further meetings, either business or social until club work is resumed in the fall.

A very large teachers' convention is slated for Mandan in the early part of October and the club has been requested to supply some form of entertainment for them as an added inducement. It is possible that arrangements may be made to have some well known artist appear here in recital, supported by a local chorus.

HONOR GUESTS
Mrs. Catherine Ray, Mrs. P. McGlinchey and Mrs. Michael Drury of Dickinson were the honor guests at a delightful luncheon given for them by Mrs. J. K. Porter of 3rd Ave. N. W. at 1 o'clock Friday.

Luncheon was served in four courses and covers were laid for nine. The centerpiece and corresponding decorations were of pink and white honeysuckle.

TAKE PART IN BANQUET
The Misses Celia and Florence Connolly went to Bismarck Sunday evening, where they took a prominent place on the program at the K. C. banquet at the Hotel McKenzie.

EXPECTED HOME
Mrs. J. H. Noakes, who has been absent for a year in Albuquerque, New Mexico is expected home in a few weeks. Mrs. Noakes has been entirely restored to health.

FROM NEW LEIPZIG
Mrs. E. E. Hamilton of New Leipzig is in Mandan for the week end. She is the guest at the Lewis and Clark.

RETURNS HOME
Miss Vivian Brown, who has been attending school in Fargo, has returned home for the summer vacation.

MEET WEDNESDAY
The Red Cross Society will hold a meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Commercial club rooms.

VISITOR FROM DICKINSON
Sydney Parkin is a visitor from Dickinson. He drove down Friday in his Kissel Speedster.

EN ROUTE TO MINNESOTA
Mrs. A. W. Patterson, Mrs. R. O'Connell, the Misses Elizabeth and Rose Borchert and Maurice Kimball were en route to Minnesota.

in Mandan on Saturday en route to Mapleton, Minn. They are motoring from Leith and this is the first lap of their journey.

SPENDING WEEK END
Mrs. J. K. Klee is spending the week end in Mandan. Her home is in Mott.

FROM GLEN ULLIN
George J. Schaefer of Glen Ullin is in town for a few days on business.

On Business Matters
Mr. Barnes of Glen Ullin, senior partner of Barnes and Nelson was in Mandan looking after business matters on Saturday.

Are Discharged
Sam Howe of Mandan and Elias Rishel of Zap were among the patients discharged from the Mandan hospital on Sunday.

Mandan Visitor
Mrs. Herman Swanson was a Mandan visitor in Bismarck on Saturday.

Mandan Visitor
Evert Lanterman was a Mandan visitor Saturday on legal business.

FORD COMPANY CONTINUES TO BREAK RECORDS

General Popularity of Car Reflected in Sales in Bismarck

Highest daily production records were shattered so frequently this month that output figures were soon made history, says a Ford Motor company announcement. Having broken the daily output mark on April 25, for the first time since last October, the company set about to establish higher production records.

On May 3, the April 25 record was broken when in this country 3,951 cars were turned out. This was a big day for at the River Rouge plant, the tenth thousand tractor to be constructed at the former Eagle Boat plant left the Assembly line.

But that high mark last only 25 hours. On May 4, 3,963 cars were built, setting a record again. This figure predominated until April 6, when it also went to the background before a new mark of 4,042 cars. On May 9, the output jumped again to 4,012 and on the next day there was another increase to 4,083 cars, making five times that the daily production mark had been broken in eight working days. This was the record at the time of going to press.

The April schedule calling for 90,000 cars was broken by 135,000. May production is expected to be 100,000 cars and the work of the first ten days would indicate that there will be little trouble in reaching this mark.

Taking into consideration the foreign assembly plants, including the Ford Motor Company of Canada, 90,000 cars were built during April which came within a few hundred of breaking the highest monthly record ever made in the company.

Mr. Copelin of the Coolin Motor Co. states that he received and delivered thirty-three Ford cars and trucks during the month of May, 1921. This is a very nice increase over May, 1920, and tends to show the ever increasing popularity of Ford products.

COLLEGE PLAY PRESENTED AT THE AUDITORIUM

The Jamestown college players presented "The Man From Home" at the Auditorium here Saturday night in a pleasing and effective manner, but in the presence of a disappointingly small audience.

The heads of the players had bowed in sorrow the night before when a college student, Henning Johansson, a member of the orchestra, dropped dead between acts. The cast was not informed of the death, however, and the play was finished in the presence of the large audience. Johansson had succumbed behind the scenes.

WILL ADDRESS VETERANS

Men who have served in United States forces in foreign lands or hostile waters are invited to attend a meeting at the Grand Pacific hotel on June 2, to hear Robert G. Woodside, Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars tell of the strides this organization of men who have seen service in all climes has made in the past year.

The Commander-in-Chief is making a tour of the principal cities of the country in an effort to enlighten all men who have seen service outside the territorial limits of the United States upon the many advantages to be enjoyed from membership in the "Gold Stripes" organization, which permits of no political or religious bias, holding love of country and service to their fellows above all else, and whose watchword is Comradeship.

Twenty Years Old
The Veterans of Foreign Wars has been in existence over 20 years and has come to be one of the leading veteran organizations in this country. Principal qualifications for membership is service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps in foreign waters or on foreign soil. Included in its ranks are veterans of the Mexican War of 1846, the Spanish-American War in 1898, the China Relief Expeditions, and those who served outside the United States in the war with Germany. The National Headquarters of the organization are at 32 Union Square, New York City, where the Quartermaster General, Walter I. Joyce, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, and the Adjutant General, Raul W. Elton, a veteran of the A. E. F., help direct the affairs of over 700 posts in all parts of the United States.

The organization has sponsored many relief measures for veterans and maintains a Legislative Committee in Washington which acts in conjunction with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Vocational Training Bureau and other governmental agencies to assist the ex-service man in securing his rights.

The official publication, Foreign Service, a 22-page magazine, is issued monthly and is received by every member.

Commander-in-Chief Robert G. Woodside bears an enviable record of service to his country and is giving to the Veterans of Foreign Wars the same unselfish devotion that won the D. S. C. for him in the Alsace-Marne Offensive. Captain Woodside is a veteran of the Philippines, the Boxer Rebellion, and at the time this country entered the World War was a retired Lieutenant Colonel in the Pennsylvania National Guard. He accepted a commission as captain at the second R. O. T. C. and was assigned to Company M, 38th Infantry, Third Division.

During the Alsace-Marne Offensive, when all the other officers of his battalion had been either killed or wounded and surrounded on three sides by the enemy, he gathered his men together, including soldiers who had become lost from their own outfits, and held their position until after reinforcements arrived. It was after this battle that this regiment was referred to as "The Rock of the Marne."

PROCLAMATION
NATIONAL DISABLED SOLDIERS' WEEK

WHEREAS: There are hundreds of thousands of disabled World War Soldiers throughout our Nation—many thousands being in hospitals, and many more needing special care and treatment, and
WHEREAS: There is urgent need of enlarged hospitalization, vocational training and suitable employment will enable these men to become contented and useful citizens, and
WHEREAS: The sacrifices they have made entitle them to our fullest appreciation evidenced in concrete form and since our greatest efforts are none too great to bestow upon those who have given up so much of what life holds dear to perpetuate the cause of justice on earth,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Lynn J. Frazier, Governor of North Dakota, hereby set aside and proclaim the week of May 29th to June 4th, inclusive,

NATIONAL DISABLED SOLDIERS' WEEK, and urge that all localities co-operate with the various fraternal, patriotic, civic and religious societies in carrying out the construction program proposed by the National Disabled Soldiers League, and which includes the following outline of service:

Motto of week: "Remember the Disabled Soldier."
Monday: Program sermons for the disabled.
Tuesday: Disabled to participate in Memorial Day exercises.
Wednesday: Appeal for soldiers' legislation.
Thursday: Entertainment of disabled.
Friday: Drive for disabled employment.
Saturday: Visiting disabled at hospitals.
Sunday: Veterans Day.
In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of North Dakota to be affixed at the Capitol at Bismarck, this 24th day of May, A. D. 1921.

LYNN J. FRAZIER, Governor.

and for this action he received the Distinguished Service Cross.
During the Meuse-Argonne Offensive Captain Woodside was wounded several times. According to War Department figures, the regiment suffered the second largest list of casualties of any organization in France. After recovering from his wounds and returning to his regiment for duty he was made Regimental Adjutant. He formed in this regiment what is known as the "Rock of Marne" Post No. 138 V. F. W. This is the largest Post in the organization, numbering more than 3,000 men.

Successor to G. A. R.
The Veterans of Foreign Wars is the logical successor of the G. A. R., its members believe, and only recently passed legislation that confers full membership upon all members of G. A. R. posts throughout the country who care to become affiliated and the response has been very gratifying.

GREECE FACES BAD SLUMP IN ALL COMMERCE

Athens, May 30.—Business in Greece has fallen off to such an extent that American commercial representatives find themselves without anything to do. Trade in all lines has become stagnant. The shipping business is prostrated. The only vessels to arrive in Saloniki harbor during the last three weeks were two hospital ships bearing dead and wounded from the Anatolian front.

The government is buying nothing except a limited quantity of food supplies for the army. It is withholding payment on all outstanding accounts. Every franc is needed for the Asiatic campaign.

The Greece franc (or drachma) is only one-third its former value. The cost of life was never higher, the morale of the people seldom lower. The price of bread was advanced 40 per cent a few days ago. The army is costing 4,000,000 francs a day. Foreign observers are agreed that the country cannot go on without a financial crisis.

The defeat of Venizelos and the return of King Constantine has affected all business in a country where commerce and politics are closely associated. The blockade of foreign credits, the rapid decline in the drachma, and uncertainty as to the future has resulted in commercial paralysis.

Greece feels especially her inability to use the $33,000,000 credit she has in the United States. The American State Department has made it clear that this cannot be touched until the question of recognition of the king is settled. Constantine insists he never abdicated, and refuses to recognize the legality of his son Alexander's reign. This attitude may have an important bearing upon America's policy toward Greece and the question of the $33,000,000 credit.

The docks, warehouses and customs house in Piraeus (the port of Athens) are choked with merchandise, due to the inability of the purchasers to pay for it. The same condition prevails at Saloniki, Smyrna and Constantinople. Orders have been cancelled by the wholesale.

Retail prices have increased to a point where they are prohibitory. Taxes steadily are mounting. The government is faced with the necessity of issuing more paper money. Bank rates on short loans to stock exchange brokers range as high as 40 per cent. There is huge speculation in exchange, manipulators buying large amounts of foreign money on margin and then selling it at a profit.

Greece's public debt, including her share of the Ottoman debt prescribed by the Sevres Treaty, is nearly 6,000,000,000 drachmae. (In normal times equivalent to about $1,200,000,000.) Her total national income is estimated at 5,000,000,000 drachmae. Her budget deficit for this year is 1,000,000,000 drachmae. For issue of paper money is nearly 2,000,000,000 drachmae. Fortunately, this is largely covered by gold reserve and by securities in foreign countries. The state's indebtedness to the National Bank doubled during the last year, amounting on January 1, 1921, to nearly 1,500,000,000 drachmae. The greater part of this money was used for Asia Minor campaign.

GREAT BRIDGE TO CONNECT TWO NATIONS

Suspension Structure Will Link Detroit and Windsor—To Cost 30 Million

Detroit, Mich., May 30.—The proposed suspension bridge between Detroit and Windsor, the sixth international bridge linking the United States with Canada and the third that will carry highway traffic between the two countries, will have been completed within the next five years, in the opinion of Charles Evans Fowler, chief engineer of the project. Mr. Fowler announced construction work might start late next fall or during the winter. About four years is expected to be required to complete the project.

The bridge, Mr. Fowler said, will rank as one of the most important of those between the two countries, because it will connect Ontario, the most thickly settled province of Canada, with the so-called middle western part of the United States. It will serve a greater number of persons than any other international bridge on the continent, Mr. Fowler said.

Present plans call for a bridge of the suspension type that will cost $30,000,000. Permission to build the span has been granted by both the United States and Canada. The bill granting such permission was signed by President Wilson just before he left office March 4. Both branches of the Dominion government have sanctioned the project, virtually completing the preliminary steps necessary before construction begins.

The main span of the bridge will be 1,700 feet. There will be two 28-foot roadways, two seven-foot wide walks, two tram car tracks, and four tracks on the lower decks for railways. The railway tracks will connect on the Canadian side with the Essex Terminal railway and on the American side with the joint tracks of the Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Wabash and Michigan Central railroads.

Three of the bridges already in existence between the United States and Canada are located at Niagara Falls, one is at Buffalo, and another is across the St. Mary's river near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Did you know that when a director wants the cameraman to start photographing he yells "Camera!"? When he wants him to quit he calls "cut!"

There will be a barn dance at Scheblers, June 1.

TEN CHILDREN IN NINE YEARS—FIVE IN THE LAST YEAR!

Ten children in less than nine years—five of them born within the last 12 months—is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Robb, of Hubbard Lake, Mich. During October, 1912 the children came a year or two apart, until May, 1920, when triplets arrived. One is shown in Robb's arms and the other two in high chairs. April, 1921, brought the twins shown in the arms of Mrs. Robb.

(Established 1878)

ON FAME'S ETERNAL CAMPING GROUND
Three years ago today the German army, advancing toward Paris, capped a series of spectacular victories by reaching the Marne on a six-mile front between Chateau Thierry and Dormans.
A week later American troops plunged into the conflict and turned the tide.
History will recognize that from then on the German cause was lost, that it reached its zenith about Memorial Day, 1918.
More than two and a half years have elapsed since the signing of the armistice.

Birds sing and the peasant plows where once the cannon roared.
But the world's wounds are not yet healed. The scars they leave will persist for generations.
As was the case following the Civil War, years must pass before democracy's victory in the World War bears its full fruits.
There were those who, when our Civil War ended, believed that reconstruction could never restore the ruins and purge the opposing factions of their hatreds.
Time has shown that was a fallacy.
Time again will restore order and peace, normal conditions and happiness in the world.
Hatreds will run their course.
And future generations, because of the perspective of time, will honor America's dead in the World War as the saviors of democracy, even with a greater reverence than we on this Memorial Day.
Words are futile in paying tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice.
The nation honors them and their Gold Star Mothers, as it honors their soldier predecessors of Abraham Lincoln's day who also died so that "government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

"WATCHING WAITING" NOT SO BAD
It is greatly to be hoped that the reports from Washington—that our relations with Mexico are approaching a settlement—are not premature.
Such a settlement would involve recognition of the Obregon government upon the basis of its satisfying our legitimate claims and giving us certain guarantees for the future.
The policy of our government seems to be, not to impose humiliating terms upon Mexico as the price of recognition, but to insist upon certain fundamental principles which, when and if finally agreed to, will form the basis for permanent peace and friendly relations between the two countries.
This is as it should be.
While both countries have much to gain, materially and morally, by getting together, it would be worse than useless merely to patch things up as an expediency proposition.
It may take longer to build enduring foundations, but they are the only kind worth building.
The evidences that they are being built must be very gratifying to the great majority of people in this country, who have always opposed intervention in Mexico and have looked forward longingly to the day when out of the welter of Mexican anarchy a government would finally emerge, capable of really governing and worthy of our respect and recognition.
Who will say that the policy of "watchful waiting," as opposed to a policy of intervention has not justified itself?
It is an example which certain European nations, that fly at each other's throats on the slightest provocation, could emulate with profit to themselves and in the interest of the future peace of the world.

Ever notice that the youngsters' minds are usually on the "by-us?"
QUICK AND SURE!
For the first time in the records of the courts of central Illinois, a judge has passed sentence of life imprisonment upon the charge of assault with intent to kill.
This followed a crime wave so extensive that the authorities feared the public might take the law into their own hands.
The doors of Jail have clanged shut behind the two youthful criminals, Fred Hardy and Virgil Schneider. In an attempted robbery they tortured an aged farmer, shot his son through the shoulder and mistreated the latter's daughter.

Nothing unusual about that crime, you say? It happens daily? Granted.
The unusual feature was the conviction and sentence of the two criminals within two weeks after they committed their crime.
Quick justice!
It is beginning to dawn on judges and juries that the national attitude toward criminals has leaned so far on the side of indulgence and sentiment that criminals have had little fear of penalties.
A youthful payroll bandit in Cleveland recently was sentenced to the electric chair for murder. The judge was a woman. The jury was headed by a woman. The bandit's pal also has since been sentenced to the chair for the same crime—by a jury including four women who, in contrast to several of the men members, "from the start were for the death penalty without recommendation for mercy."
This was not what some men predicted when women began to be included on juries in criminal cases.
In the general campaign to throw the fear of the law into the criminal's heart, it might be a good idea to give us a jury of 12 women in every major criminal case.
Sure justice!
Enough of delay! Enough of doubt! Make justice quick and sure and watch the criminal army shrink away!

VANISHED—85,000 GIRLS
Sixty-five thousand American girls disappeared last year without leaving a trace.
Murder and loss of memory cause some of these disappearances. These, however, are in the minority, says Catherine Van Winkle, police lieutenant of the District of Columbia.
This specialist on missing girls and young women finds that the majority of those who drop out of sight are lured from farms and small towns. The city is the quicksand that swallows them.
The problem, though increasing at an appalling rate, is not beyond solution.
The federal government with its Mann act has done much to check white slavery.
Local crusades against vice and questionable districts have helped, though sporadically.
But these do not get down to fundamentals.
The increasing problem of the wayward girl is simply a reflection of the deterioration of the American home.
When fathers do not neglect their sons, when mothers do not neglect their daughters, then—and not until then—will the nation be able to boast a real diminution in the number of girls who yearly disappear without leaving a trace.

A Fable: Once upon a time a boy, was named James and nobody called him Jim.
Sonnybub wonders why mother discourages him from fighting since he read that the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier scrap will get $360,000.
Pedometers show, a housewife travels two miles in preparing three meals. How many miles when she shops for some sateen to make bloomers for the little girl?

LAW ENFORCEMENT IN THE NORTHWEST
The announcement that two-thirds of the Federal prohibition enforcement staff in the Northwest are to be laid off for lack of funds, does not promise well for law enforcement in this district. The border States are peculiarly open to rum-running. With the coming of summer and good roads, open violation of the prohibition law is to be expected.
It is to be hoped the Senate will promptly confirm the action of the House yesterday in voting money to keep the prohibition agents at work.
At best the dry law is difficult to enforce. But it is now a part of the Constitution and laws of the United States.
The issue reaches further than rum-running or wet-and-dry. Half the good of any law lies in its just enforcement. Civilization in one sense is the progress of restraining the will of the individual by law. The liberty and safety of a people depend upon its success in enforcing laws. Where one law is violated with impunity, other laws are brought into disrespect. No law lives to itself alone, but it is bound up with the integrity of others.
Where the Government, for one reason or another, permits a law to be defied or evaded, it is by just so much decreasing respect for all law and substituting a system where anarchy will alternate with tyranny.
Certain laws may seem questionable, but so long as they are on the statute books, they should be enforced with vigor, for otherwise all law is brought into disrepute. If the dry act is worthy to be a law, it is worthy of proper enforcement.—Minneapolis Journal.

Memorial Day, 1921
By Berton Bralley
Our dead rest on the breast of France
And all around the world
Where by war's grim or splendid chance
Our banners were unfurled;
So whether here or overseas
Their bodies chance to lie,
We pay full honor unto these
Who did not fear to die.
Because they dared, because they died
We and our nation live.
Our liberty our hope, our pride
Were gifts that they could give;
And since for all these gifts the price
Was life—they held life cheap
And blithely made the sacrifice
And laid them down to sleep.
O, dead of many wars, who fought
With spirit high and pure
The noble structure that you wrought
Shall evermore endure!
You held your country's cause above
All else; we, unafraid,
Will keep your country worthy of
The price you gladly paid.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
"I didn't know company had come," said Mr. Sprinkle-Blow.
"Hello there!" called Mr. Sprinkle-Blow to Nancy and Nick when he saw them standing in front of the house of the Nuisance Fairies. "I didn't know company had come. How do you do!"
He crossed the road and shook hands cordially with the twins, and then remarked that it was a nice day, or rather that he was going to see to it that it was a nice day. "I've just telephoned to Mr. Sun to help me out," he nodded, and when old Mr. Sun is in a good humor, he'll do anything for me. But there! You haven't told me yet how you got here."
"Why you came at all, in fact. And being a curious person, I'd like ever so much to know. That's part of my business, asking questions and find out what people are planning to do. How can I mix up the proper kind of weather for them? But there, again! I see that I'm not giving you a chance to say a word. Why did you come?"
"The Fairy Queen sent us to help you," answered Nancy. "Do you need us?"
But before Mr. Sprinkle-Blow had time to answer, Nick said quickly, "I'm afraid we've made a wrong bargain. The tattered old flag which went with them in battle, let us remember that Memorial Day means more than the mere decoration of graves, the planting of flags; it means that united our country dared the fight, and that we have never as yet been the aggressor in any war—but once in we never yielded—and never will."

MEMORIAL DAY TEACHES LESSONS TO EVERY CITIZEN OF THE NATION
(By Florence Borner)
Once each year we lay aside our daily round of tasks to do homage to our Country's heroic dead.
Marching to the strains of martial music the children will place wreaths of beautiful flowers on the graves of our brave soldier boys, and a flag will also be planted there to show that one lives there who served his country in time of national peril.
Veterans old and young will don their uniforms and proudly march once more to the strains of the stirring music through which they went through the hell of shot and shell to win the victory. Old memories are revived, old friendships renewed, and old tales retold on this day.
Veterans of the Civil War, the brave boys of '61 will tell us of the battles they were in, they will speak of Gettysburg and Chickamauga, of Vicksburg and other noted battle sites.
The veterans of the Spanish-American war will tell of how they helped to set Cuba free, while our own brave soldier lads will speak of the great World War, and how they fought to save our country for liberty and freedom.
There are not many of our brave old heroes left us. The boys who shouldered their guns and marched away at the fall of Sumner, who fought through four long, bloody years, are leaving us one by one. There are more graves to decorate this year than ever before, there will be more next year than this, until some day we will be learning that our boys in blue are all gone.
Our thoughts are turning from those of war to those of universal peace, when the sound of the bugle will no more be heard except on parade, and the dreadful roar of the cannon will be forever stilled.
What a glad day it will be when we can say "War is over forever. When nation joins hands with nation and works for the good of the world when the war cry is forgotten, and the bloody deeds of battle but a memory."
It is not worth working for, striving for, praying for, that this happy day be not long in coming.
It is owing to the bravery of our soldiers that we owe the blessings of freedom and liberty which we enjoy today. And while paying homage to the dead, let us not forget the living let us cheer as they march by carry gaining. Mr. Weatherman, and you want us. We—we let out Mr. Flood.

"What!" cried Sprinkle-Blow, surprised he nearly fell over his own umbrella.
And Nick explained how he had opened the wrong door.
"Gracious alive!" cried the fairy-man. "There isn't a moment to be lost. Here I've promised Mr. Builder Beaver that I'd send him good weather. He told me that he hadn't had time to finish his dam last fall, before I sent the cold weather, and he is hurrying to finish it. Now Old Man Flood will unblock all the little streams and spoil everything."

THE DAY OF MEMORIES
BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARFON.
So far as I know, no other nation has, or ever has had, just such a day as this which every spring we celebrate. It is a day sacred to holy memories that recede farther and farther into the mist of our yesterdays, yet live again with the blooming of the flowers.
No nation ever did quite what ours did a half century ago. The negro slaves did not rise up in insurrection and free themselves; not even Old John Brown was able to incite them to rise for their own freedom. The black men were freed by white men of their own land.
Nor would it be true to say that the men of the north conquered the men of the south and thus made the nation free. Southern men in great numbers fought for the Union—180,000 of them from the mountains of Kentucky, Tennessee and adjacent states.
North and south had snined together in the establishment of slavery and the south had a share far from negligible in its eradication. We are one nation. We were not sure about it in 1861, but we have been sure of it since 1865.
It is a blessed thing to be able to put some sorrow where we can lay flowers upon them. The memories of strife two generations ago should lie

SEES FIRST WELL DAY IN FIFTEEN YEARS
Mason City Salesman Says He Feels Like A New Man And Has Gained 12 Pounds
For the first time in fifteen years I feel like a well man, for Tanlac has relieved all my sufferings and got me in shape to where I have gained twelve pounds in weight," said Richard J. Carr, well-known foreman for the Mita Insulating Company, who lives at 211 14th street S. E., Mason City, Ia.
"During all these years I've had no end of trouble with a weak stomach and poor digestion. I had to be very careful of what I ate, and even at that I suffered a great deal. Just before I started taking Tanlac I was going down hill pretty fast. I had no appetite at all and was getting weaker and less fit to do my work every day. My nerves were unstrung and I couldn't get the sleep I needed, so I was in poor shape for a day's work when it came time to get up in the morning.
"But I've taken four bottles of Tanlac now and actually feel like a new man. My appetite is simply grand, I sleep like a school boy and always get up feeling fine. Besides putting my stomach in the best condition I believe Tanlac has rid me of constipation that used to bother me all the time, for I haven't been troubled in that way in some time. I'll always stand by Tanlac."
deep beneath the sod, and on the sod should bloom not thorns but flowers. The men who fought in the World War were not the sons-but the grandsons of the men who fought at Vicksburg and Gettysburg and Richmond. Let us remember the courage and forget the bitterness. Let us remember the principles for which we fought, and never forget that those principles are established.
Two facts the Civil War settled permanently: we are one nation, and that nation is and forever is to be a free nation. Let us remember that.

With the Movies
"DINTY" ARRIVES IN TOWN.
Reports from the Elling state that "Dinty" otherwise known as Wesley Barry, reached this city without losing a freckle and will be seen at the theater for three days beginning today. "Dinty" is the story of a little San Francisco newsboy and his experience in tracing a kidnapped girl through the mysterious paths of Chinatown. Were it not for the fact that Marshall Neilan directed the picture, less stress might be laid on its entertainment value, but Marshall Neilan and Wesley Barry are a sure guarantee of a fine picture entertainment. How Dinty becomes king of the Newsboys' Trust, works his way into the good graces of the assistant district attorney, aids in the recovery of his finances from the kidnappers and engineers a little romance of his own, is revealed in this, the best of the Neilan productions to date.

AT BISMARCK
With "The Right to Love," his second and independent production, George Fitzmaurice has definitely established his reputation as a motion picture producer who can combine a flashy artistic background with dramatic emotion. This picture opens three days' run at the Bismarck theater tonight.
Mr. Fitzmaurice has taken a drama of mismatched husbands and wives, with scenes laid in Turkey, and made a picture that holds the interest throughout. Lovely Mae Murray is the ill-treated wife of Lord Falkland, the British representative at Constantinople. The climax is reached when he installs his mistress in their home and at the same time imports a Prince Stanislaus, whose mission is to compromise Lady Falkland. Colonel Loring, well played by David Powell, is the American who falls Lord Falkland, though not until he has killed the nobleman in a row. But the story ends happily.
Miss Murray is an excellent emotional actress. David Powell is suave and easily at home in his role. The other members of the cast have been likewise adroitly chosen. They include Alma Tell, Holmes E. Herbert, and Macey Harlan. Ouida Bergere wrote the photoplay from a French original. It is a Paramount release.

AT THE REX
Today the Rex is presenting Marguerite Fisher in the sensational melodrama "The Hellion" and a two-reel comedy by Alfred Henry Lewis "The Trials of Texas Thompson."
Wednesday and Thursday Jack Dempsey will be seen in a special exclusive picture entitled "A Day With Jack Dempsey." This is the only genuine picture of America's great favorite which will be made before the big fight July 2.
"Fight On, Fight On," Motto of Legior
Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander, the American Legion today issued the following proclamation to the Legion members:
"Today a mighty nation bows its head in memory of the men who have died that the nation might live—men of Bunker Hill, of Gettysburg, of Santiago and of the Argonne.
"The American Legion joins the nation in its reverence for the dead, but the Legion also claims a deeper kinship for those who gloriously fell in the World War. For these men were our comrades-in-arms linked to us by the strongest of ties.
"We shall visit every grave today, at home and abroad, and shall speak words of comfort to the dear ones who mourn. But we shall not only give, we shall receive. For, as we stand at their graves today, our comrades will speak to us. They will remind us of the dangers that beset our beloved land, of the enemies, within and without, of the long fight that must be waged. The voice of our comrades comes to us, like a call to arms. 'Fight on, fight on,' urges us."

CREED OF THE DISABLED MAN
Afflicted Fellows of Washington, D. C., Post, Look on Brighter Side of Things.

Disabled veterans of the World war, nearly all of them overseas veterans and members of the Walter Reed post of the American Legion in Washington, D. C., have adopted what they term, "The Creed of the Disabled Man," which, called to the attention of President Harding upon a recent visit to the hospital, was by the President pronounced fine. The "creed" reads as follows:

Once more to be useful—to see pity in the eyes of my friends replaced with commendation—to work, produce, provide and to feel that I have a place in the world, seeking no favors and given none—a man among men in spite of this physical handicap.

Cost of Living in Paris.
The cost of living in Paris is not exorbitant for an American, who is paid in American dollars, according to a letter from a member of the Paris Post of the American Legion.

"Beware the big restaurants and duck into the side streets unfrequented by tourists," the veteran warns. "I had a fine meal today for 850 francs, or about fifty cents."

"The menu included: Friture de Loire, 1.50 francs; omelette champignons, 2.25 francs; Chateaubriand (which is fried spuds and watercress), 2.50 francs; celeri braise, 75 centimes; macaroni, 75 centimes and fromage, 75 centimes."

"And after the meal, cafe cognac for 65 centimes."

That Would Be Enough.
A gentleman took his little daughter to a toy shop to buy her a doll. "Now, what sort of a doll would you like, my dear?" said he, as a large assortment was placed on the counter by the shopman. After some hesitation the little girl replied:

"I think I'd like to have twins, please."

Most Likely.
"Well, at any rate," remarked the flat dweller, "I don't have to pay any garage bills."

"How much is your rent?" "Three little rooms and a trick kitchen cost me $100 a month."

"Don't flatter yourself. Some of that money helps to pay your landlord's garage bills."

In Doubt.
"Is this letter intended to convey gratitude or what?" "What does he say?" "Thanks me for passes to the race-track and says he lost $40."

CHARMING HOME FOR MODERN FARM

House Like This Will Keep the Children Contented.

HAS LATEST CONVENIENCES

Something About This House That Appeals to Everyone—It Radiates Comfort, Cheer, Spaciousness and Satisfaction.

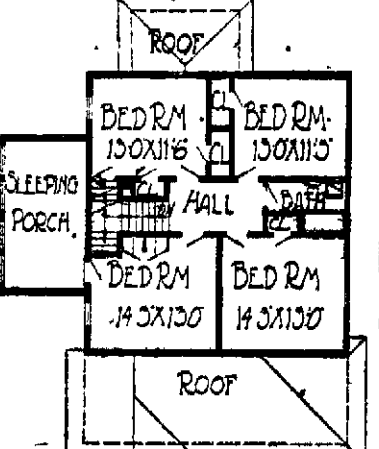

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 127 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Twenty years ago the farmer considered a dugout or rumbledown shack sufficient protection and shelter for himself and family. The work of the farm was more important by far than the comfort of the folks. Farm homes were unknown quantities, given little thought and little attention. But times have changed. Today the farm demands attention because of changing conditions. Certain important factors are responsible for this change.

In the first place the children rose up in rebellion because of the monotony and drudgery which faced them day in and day out. The silent housewife, carrying the burdens of an Achilles on her shoulders, finally got tired. The two combined and forced changes which are now the rule rather than the exception. They demanded and got new, comfortable, cozy homes with modern conveniences and other delights that make homes worth while. Forced by an exodus of the children

This space can be easily converted into sleeping rooms by the judicious use of wall board. It is the kind of home that should be seen on all farms because it reflects a progressive spirit that will work wonders with farm life in general. All work and no play will make a dull boy and that is what homes of this type will prevent.

With the exception of the sleeping porch wing extending out over the drive the house is built on economical square lines, being 52 by 32 feet. The effect of charm has been gained without any unusual expense and the construction is very sensible and substantial throughout. There is no waste space in the arrangement and size of the rooms, yet there is no feeling of crowding. The kitchen which is one of the most important rooms in any home, but especially so in the farm home, is very modern in arrangement and equipment. No longer a large ungainly room requiring endless work to keep clean, this kitchen is a small compact room convenient to the dining room where the meals are served. A side entrance onto the drive is quite handy.

More attention is being paid to the small comforts and conveniences of the farm home and with the devel-as soon as they reached their majority the farmer began to give the question of home comforts some serious thought. The barn was not the most important building. Home came first.

That is why we have homes like the one shown here on many farms in the country. There is something about this charming house that appeals to everyone. It radiates comfort, spaciousness, cheer and satisfaction. There is the large roomy porch with its protecting screens, a wonderful retreat on the warm days, where the family can rest after the day in the field. The house is stucco and frame. The foundation is brick with stucco on the first story and shingles above to the roof. Extending out over the side driveway is a sleeping porch which is an essential room in any home. The driveway leads to an attractive little garage in the rear.

On the first floor there are three rooms—living room, 18 by 13 feet, a very large and spacious room; dining room, 13 by 17 feet 6 inches, and oment of electric lighting facilities and water supply the farm home has become a real place to live in. No longer the bucket from the well or the strenuous work of pumping it—now it runs from a faucet in the kitchen.

This home should be inspirational to all farmers who are planning a new one in the near future. It suggests many excellent ideas which should be incorporated.

SUPERSTITION OF WHITE EGG

Hard to Account for Widespread Fable That the Brown Shell Contains Inferior Product.

Of all the food superstitions that cause high prices—and there are many—the white egg superstition is pointed out by C. Houston Goudins, editor of the Forecaster magazine, as one of the most curious.

"In nearly every section of the country," says Mr. Goudins, "there is a difference in the price between the brown and the white egg. On a motor trip through New Jersey recently I noticed that white eggs were bringing as high as 22 cents per dozen more than brown eggs. Why, the gods, who play with our fears and prejudices and laugh at us, only know."

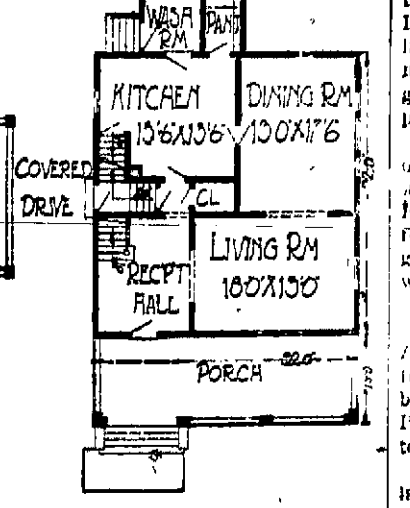

"The white egg costs no more to produce than the brown egg. Exactly the same feed is used to produce both eggs. Both are equal in food value. The only reason for a difference in price is a greater demand on the part of housewives for the white egg. I once heard a dealer honestly say it was more military and on another occasion an Iowa man with no religious leaning informed me that the white egg was a better egg, even the shell felt nicer. Producers and dealers have been quick to capitalize this superstition."

"Curiously enough, in some of the large cities of the country, brown eggs bring a higher price than do white ones. I have heard this explained in these cities with the sage information that the brown egg is 'stronger' and more 'meaty' than the white egg."

Thirty Days.
An athletic young fellow in Australia went on a tear and landed in the police court. The magistrate inquired what the prisoner's occupation was.

"He's a professional football player," said his counsel. "He plays outside right for his team."

"Oh, he does, does he?" replied the magistrate. "Well, then, we must change his position. He'll be left inside for the next month."

kitchen, 15 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 6 inches. A small washroom is immediately off the kitchen for the use of the man after completing their day's work. The ample window space gives the house a very cheerful appearance and adds much to the brightness of the interior.

Upstairs are four comfortable bedrooms and bathroom, each bedroom having ample clothes closet space. The bathroom is equipped with modern bath fixtures, and running cold and hot water is provided by a water supply system. A large high attic provides extra space in case it is needed.

"Way Down East" is now in its 31 consecutive week and has played to more than 500,000 people in New York. William Duncan is deserting serial. His first seven-reel feature is "The Princess of the Desert Dream."
